About the Practitioner

Like all of us, Dana is a natural born intuitive and transforming Butterfly. A Queen of reinvention she has been a dancer, musician, struggling student, office employee, law & policy expert, government manager, studio owner, English teacher, corporate trainer and movement therapist so far in this life.

She tried mainstream life for a while until she found herself in energetic crisis with debilitating pain and fatigue via autoimmune disease in her 20s. During this time she lost her marriage, her house, her stable career, her confidence, her health, all her money and most of her relationships. Believe it or not, this was also the most pivotal turning point of her life.

Even as a child Dana was gifted with people skills, with clear insight and profound emotional intelligence beyond her years. While ever caring with other people, it took this energetic crisis for her to ask the questions: Is this it? What about what I want?

By learning to reconnect with Spirit and embrace her natural energetic gifts, Dana has rebuilt her life to one of harmonious balance. After studying everything on health and wellness in sight for nearly a decade, she is inspired to pass these lessons on to anyone who wants to listen! Is this you?

Dana is a gifted spirit channel and inspiring mentor with many 'qualifications'. She is driven to respect the journey in all of us, and knows that the Soul must express what it's here to do!

Everything in life is energy. Do you understand how energy works and what you can do with it? Let Dana help you embody your journey. It's time to live the life your Soul wants.
